

Dear Francis

Received your letter, glad you are well. All here are fine except Tom. He seems to be getting smaller. He says for the want of more beer. You know him and your father never satisfied it seem.

Did you get Dots letter your mother sent down. I guess she thinks you and Joe are both in the same Camp. Every week she has to write to some soldier or sea sailor.

I suppose your mother has told you all the news so there is not much for me. Henry ^{Alky} went in army last Friday. She is heart broken and does nothing but worry and cry. 2 weeks ago Anna De Orange was asking for you. She expects to go to California for entertaining the soldiers and then working her way east.

Have you heard if Richie Thornhill is in that Camp or not.

Your father was here last night all well over to your house.

Went to party at Gills & Eileen and it stunk on ice. Jert did not even get drunk. We all got in one room. So all of and all got in Camp's Car at 3 o'clock to go home. You should have seen us.

Believe me I'm not drunk well I am writing this letter. But when you have a lot of time I guess you will have to read this letter. It is all mixed up.

Will I guess ~~an~~ enough ~~no~~ for one letter.

Will drop a line again. This took 2 weeks to write every day I put a line to it.

Last night it was almost to O and your father looked like a lobster when he came in

Write soon

Kate. & Some^{one} never writes
